I don't know,
just don't

Today feels strange. Can't explain it. I think I come up with a good idea, and it gets poopoo'd. Then I get to feeling pretty worthless, and I'm not worthless. I just feel that way.

It's pick me up time. Check out these earrings:

I'm amazed that they turned out by making a 3D object in Adobe Illustrator. They were only supposed to be 50-60 percent of that size. I had trouble drilling a hole into the top end from Illustrator. I used the slicing software to drill the hole, then reflecting the artwork to get the second piece.

They are easy to wear, they get caught in my hair sometimes, but they are not heavy. I like that. I wonder if I could sell a few, might be worth trying. Right now, I'm learning.

Here I am putting out little bits of news, like everyone can't wait to get another issue. I'd like to know of any of them have been read.

Drop a note if you have read any of these newsletters. Can they even be called newsletters? I've recently been told that a newsletter requires a lot of frames to separate content. The content here runs together. So I'll use headlines to separate content.

However, these bits of news are here to help me too. I can document my discoveries, so that I don't forget them. How's that for feeling sorry for myself? Wonder what I'll think when I look back on this mess of self doubt?

The heart and leaf earrings were also designed and printed. just to have fun and to see where I could go with my imagination. I have plans for more.

Yes, these earrings are plastic, I'm not high maintenance, I don't need expensive jewelry. I like creating things. When a project is fun, or mind stretching, I have more fun with it, especially if I can wear it. That sentence sounded bad. I'm going to leave it alone. I don't talk like a perfect linguist, I don't type like one either.

How's this for a section divider?

I'm going to leave you with some scripture.

2 Corinthians 5:21 KJV

For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him.
